8-Term Incumbent in Danger in IN-03 Republican Primary : In a Republican Primary for United States Representative from Indiana's 3rd Congressional District held today, 04/27/10, Auto Dealer Bob Thomas trails incumbent Mark Souder by 6 points, with Souder today edging his opponent 35% to 29%, according to SurveyUSA polling conducted for the Mike Downs Center for Indiana Politics at Indiana University / Purdue University Fort Wayne. Attorney Phil Troyer gets 19% of the vote; businessman Greg Dickman gets 2%; 16% of likely voters are undecided.

Souder, who was first elected to represent Indiana's 4th Congressional District in 1994 and who became the 3rd district's Representative in 2002 following redistricting, leads Thomas 2:1 among those identifying as strong Republicans, 46% of the electorate. Thomas leads by 12 points among the 1 in 4 who identify less strongly as Republicans. Among Independents, Thomas and Troyer both show strength, while Souder trails; among Independents who say they lean Republican, the race is an effective 3-way tie, with an edge for Troyer. Souder leads by 11 points among women, by 3 points among men.

In the Republican primary for US Senate, 3rd District voters, like those in a separate statewide survey, choose former US Senator Dan Coats. Coats today gets 41% of 3rd district votes; State Senator Marlin Stutzman, whose state Senate district is within the 3rd US Congressional district, gets 32%. Former Congressman John Hostettler gets 11% in the 3rd district.

Filtering: SurveyUSA interviewed 1,160 registered voters from Indiana's 3rd Congressional District 04/22/10 through 04/26/10, using Registration Based Sample (RBS) from Aristotle of Washington DC. Of the registered voters, 481 were determined by SurveyUSA to be likely voters in the Republican primary for United States Senate; 400 were determined to be likely to vote in the 3rd District's Republican Primary for US House of Representatives.
